EBI 11 Miniature Temperature Logger from ebro®
Finds Room everywhere

The new EBI 11 miniature temperature data logger from ebro® Electronic in Ingolstadt/Germany is designed to monitor temperatures of up to +150°C, even in very tight spaces. It fits into all commercial screw-cap jars, bottles and tins and makes the determination of F-values and the calculation of PE-values in the food sector simple, quick and uncomplicated. But it can also reliably record storage and transport temperatures in small food packing drums and narrow transport containers.

The EBI 11 is available in three versions: With a permanently fixed 18mm sensor for use in bottles, tins and bags (for this purpose a set of adaptors for tins and special bottle adaptors are available), and with a flexible 50mm or 100mm sensor for use in autoclaves.

The benefits at a glance:

- o Space-saving
- o Watertight (IP68)
- o High-temperature resistant up to +150°C
- o Logging interval adjustable from 1 sec to 24 hours

The EBI 11 measures very accurately in a temperature range from 0°C to +150°C ($\pm 0.1^\circ\text{C}$) with a resolution of 0.01°C. It stores up to 16,000 measured values, and the logging interval is adjustable between 1 sec and 24 hours. The EBI 11 works with the Winlog.pro software and is read-out via the IF 200 interface. The life of the replaceable battery depends on the sampling rate and the temperature of use. With a logging interval of 1 sec, a battery life of 18 days is typical, and with a logging interval of 1 min the lifetime is 40 weeks. The logger measures only 16.5mm x 22mm (without sensor) and still finds room in the smallest packing space in the packing drum or in the autoclave.

Legend: The EBI 11 miniature data logger finds room everywhere.
